

Created a simple "Guess the Number" game using Python for the backend and HTML for the frontend. The user will input their guess, and the backend will respond with whether the guess is too high, too low, or correct. Flask, a lightweight web framework for Python, was used to handle the backend.

Used files are stated below.

app.py

index.html